PICTURE OF THE MONTH

This month's winner was taken by crane industry insider and photographer Bob Dimmitt. He managed to capture this shot in one of the brief periods of sunshine at this year's ConExpo construction equipment trade show in Las Vegas, USA, in March. It was chosen because of its striking dynamism and an impression of extreme perspectives, plus its strong yellow and blue colouring.

OBITUARY

HORST FELBERMAYR
SENIOR

ICST regrets to report that Horst Felbermayr Senior has died at the age of 75 after a serious illness.

For many years he was the driving force behind the development of the Austria-based international company bearing his name. From the city of Wels in Upper Austria, Horst Senior took over the company from his father Franz, who founded it in 1942. He ran the business for almost 50 years with his wife Gisela before becoming chairman of the supervisory board in 2015.

His son, Horst Junior, took over as executive director, while his wife, Andrea, became managing director.

The Felbermayr group of companies expanded to become one of the largest heavy transport, lifting and construction companies in Europe, with around 2,700 employees in 67 locations and 19 countries.

PEOPLE NEWS

Tadano Mantis headquartered in the USA has appointed JULIE FULLER as its new chief operating officer. Fuller was previously engineering vice president. She has been at the company for 25 years, since pre-Tadano days when it was SpanDeck and Mantis Cranes. SpanDeck started in 1979 building small telescopic crawler cranes (a 9 tonne capacity model) and other types of crane.

Tadano acquired SpanDeck in December 2008 and the Mantis line of crawler cranes. The Tadano Mantis 15010 was the first model introduced after the acquisition in late 2009.

Since then the capacity range has moved upwards. The latest Tadano Mantis model is the 160

US ton GTC 1600 launched at the huge US trade show ConExpo in March.

Radio control systems manufacturer Scanreco in Sweden has appointed PETER LAGESON as Scanreco Group president and chief executive officer. He is already a member of the Scanreco board. Co-founder, board member and current CEO, Kai Johansson, will remain in the company and will assume the role of vice president, product management, as well as deputy chairman of the board. Björn Askestig, who co-founded and owns the company with Johansson, will also remain, as vice president business development.
